

Break out of your cultural box.
Travel the world!

That's what Scott Stoll did when he rode a bicycle around the world. World travel enables you to improve your communication skills, build your awareness of differing cultures, to become more adaptable and adept at problem solving -- and it opens up many professional and personal opportunities. Hear Scott talk about what he learned during his travels and consider that we learn not because we have to but because we get to.

Thursday, November 20
5:30-7:00 PM, 2635 South Hall

Get your signed copy of Scott's new book "Falling Uphill".

